

Change data

All information is stored in a customers database and it is only used to identify a user in a system, or to have contact with that person. Changing your personal data in a database does not involve changing the actual certificate. There is no possibility of changing data in a certificate. Should such a need arise, the certificate has to be replaced with a new one. Pursuant to legal regulations all data is secured against being disclosed and it can be disclosed only to their owners.
